CHICAGO'S BLACK BELT PATROLLED FOLLOWING RIOT

Two White Men Slain In Attempting to Rescue Flag From Fire

AGITATORS IN HIDING
"Back to Abyssinia" Parade Ends In Riot Sunday at Scene of Flag Burning

CHICAGO, June 21.—Race rioting broke out in Chicago's south side district today as the aftermath of the shooting and killing of two white men Sunday night by a mob of negro fanatics, after the blacks, who were enraged in a "Back to Abyssinia" demonstration had burned two American flags.

Today's riot started when three negro preachers left a south side urban train. They were attacked by a mob of whites, who, inflamed by news of the Sunday night outrage, set upon them with stones and clubs. All three were injured and taken to hospitals. A white policeman who interfered was killed by a brick.

In the meantime, Grover C. Redding, negro "prince of Abyssinia," who led the demonstration on Sunday, and seven other participants, were arrested by a squad of policemen after an all night hunt for them by detectives and naval intelligence operatives. The interest of the latter in the hunt was due to the fact that one of the men slain by the negro was an enlisted man of the navy.

Hundreds of policemen were sent to Chicago's "black belt" to preserve order, and a statement urging citizens to keep cool was issued by Chief of Police Garrity.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Chicago's "black belt" district was under guard of hundreds of policemen today, and detectives were scouring the city for the fanatic leaders of the negro "Back to Abyssinia" movement as the result of a riot in the heart of the negro section Sunday night in which two white men, one a sailor in the United States navy, were slain while attempting to prevent the burning of American flags.

The two men slain were Robert Lawson Rose, a quartermaster of the fifth regiment, stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and Joseph Hoyt, a cigar store clerk.
Two men wounded in the riots were Joseph P. Owens, a negro policeman who was shot thru the lung while attempting to aid Rose and Hoyt, and William Carter, a negro butler, shot thru both legs while running from the scene of the riots.

The entire district was stirred by news of the outrage and policemen were rushed to points throughout the negro district to prevent further disorders.

The riot occurred at the conclusion of a parade said to have been led by "Elder" Grover C. Redding and Joseph Ferno, self-styled "princes of Abyssinia," and leaders of the "Star Order of Ethiopia and the Ethiopian Mission to Abyssinia," a radical movement which is said to have been organized for the purpose of inducing American negroes to emigrate to Africa.

Clad in fantastic garb, the paraders, numbering several hundred negroes, marched and rode on horseback thru the city's "black belt," carrying the red, green and yellow banners of Abyssinia, with the Lion of King Menelik upon them.

The parade wound up at a street corner, where the marchers started to build a bonfire. One of the paraders produced an American flag from beneath his flowing robe and tossed it on the fire. Policeman Owens, who was standing nearby, rushed forward and attempted to rescue the flag. Instantly several of the flag desecrators drew short rifles from beneath their robes and one of them fired on the policeman, dropping him to the side walk.

Seeing the policeman fall, Rose, who had been automobile riding with

GYPSY TOURISTS HAD A WET TRIP BACK TO AKRON

Old Jupiter played hob with the Gypsy Tourists who journeyed on motorcycles from Akron to Coshocton Saturday. The heavy rain Sunday morning spoiled the plans for the hill-climbing exhibition at the Collier hill on the eastern edge of Coshocton. Instead of waiting until 2:30 Sunday afternoon, the time set for their departure from Coshocton, many of the motorcyclists set out on their homeward trip about 12:30, others waiting until later in the afternoon and evening.

It is said that they encountered much mud and water on the roads on their way from Akron to Coshocton and the return trip was a great deal worse. But the Gypsy Tourists are a plucky bunch and with raincoats wrapped around them they started out from Coshocton in spite of the cold, wet weather. There were a large number of women in the party, riding in side-cars. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, they seemed to enjoy their visit in Coshocton.

MOST PROMINENT WOMAN IN TURKEY

Zeliha Hanoum.

Zeliha Hanoum has been pronounced the most prominent woman in Turkey today. She is instructress of French in the Turkish school at Stamboul and has developed into a great political power. The photograph shows her giving one of her impassioned speeches against the terms of the peace treaty. She is quoted as saying, "The cross shall never be raised over our mosques."

DETECTIVES ADMIT LITTLE HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED IN ELWELL MURDER MYSTERY'S UNRAVEL'G

OFFICERS ROUND UP 13 FOREIGNERS AT NEWCOMERSTOWN

Leader of Gang Bound Over to Grand Jury Monday—16 Men and One Woman
Held In Three Prisons

Sheriff Cullison, Deputy Sheriff Darr, Chief Marshal and Patrolman Frattag rounded up 13 foreigners at Newcomerstown Saturday night for being implicated in the robbery of John Karr's store at Keene and other robberies in this section.

Andy Janae, 38, a Hungarian, was brought to Coshocton late Saturday night and a charge of stealing shoes, shirts and other property, valued at $400 was placed against him in Justice E. G.
Abbott's court.

Joseph Sabo was brought to Coshocton Sunday night and an affidavit charging him with stealing property from Karr's store was filed against him Monday in Mayor Tish's court. The other 11 foreigners were locked in the Newcomerstown prison. They are charged with receiving stolen property.

The officers obtained information that Janae has been selling a large amount of stolen property and Sabo has been coming to Coshocton and soliciting sales among the foreigners at Clowville.

John Mattis, 33, and his wife, Catherine Mattis, 39, are both locked in the city prison here charged with concealing stolen property. It is alleged that they went to Newcomerstown Saturday and purchased $50 worth of goods from Janae.

Mike Serbu and John Bachey, who were arrested Saturday and locked in the county jail. Seventeen foreigners are now in custody.

Andy Janae was given a hearing Monday. He was bound over to the grand jury, his bond was fixed at $500.

Is Improving

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S.
Hagans, Fair-st, who has been hovering between life and death for the past two weeks, suffering from spinal meningitis, was reported to be much improved Monday. He underwent an operation some time ago which was performed by Dr. E. C. Carr assisted by Dr. T. W. Lear and Dr. Jesse Mc-Clain.

Clark Funeral

Funeral services for Samuel Clark of New Castle, whose death occurred Thursday at the state hospital at Massillon, were conducted Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Butler Baptist church. Burial was made at the Butler cemetery.

Is Operated On

Sara Marie Salrin, Wills Creek, underwent a tonsillectomy operation at Dr. J. W. Shaw's office, Sunday afternoon. The operation was performed by Dr. J. W. Shaw assisted by Dr. E.
U. Marquand, Coshocton.

NEWCOMERSTOWN MAY BE ANNEXED TO COSHOCTON CO IF MOVE'S FAVORED

That Newcomerstown, with its population estimated at 4500, may eventually be annexed to Coshocton-co is the prediction made by men who have been sounding out public sentiment in both Newcomerstown and Coshocton.

It is said that a large percentage of the people of the thriving municipality on the eastern border of Coshocton-co would prefer Coshocton for their county seat rather than New Philadelphia. Many residents of the up-river town find it very inconvenient to travel nearly a whole day in traveling a roundabout way to New Philadelphia to pay their taxes and transact legal business at the county seat of Tuscarawas-co, while they can come to Coshocton and return in two or three hours if necessary.

The proposition of starting a petition with a view to securing the passage of a legislative act to have the boundary line of Coshocton-co extended so as to include Newcomerstown is meeting with much favorable consideration. Whether anything comes of

NEW YORK, June 21.—A cigaret butt and a mysterious woman in gray furnished clues today upon which detectives worked feverishly in their efforts to solve the mystery of the murder of Joseph B. Elwell, turfman, international bridge whist expert and man about town.

The cigaret butt was found lying upon the mantelpiece in the room of Elwell's luxurious home, 244 West 24th-st, where the turfman was murdered. It had evidently been smoked by the murderer, as it was a cheap American brand, whereas Elwell smoked cigars of Turkish tobacco expressly made for his own use. The butt was still moist when Elwell's body was found. It is being examined under a magnifying glass for fingerprints.

The woman in gray is supposed to be married. She is said to be the same woman who created a scene at Palm Beach when she taxed Elwell with attempting to break off their friendly relations. The district attorney's staff has learned that Elwell told the woman they would have to separate because her husband was becoming aware of their intimacy.

While the detectives admit themselves absolutely in the dark, it was declared that some of the reports of clues had been discussed for publication in newspapers for "smoke screen" purposes. They hoped thus to mislead the murderer into the belief that false leads were being followed.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joyce has definitely established that Elwell was in his home at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of June 11, the morning he was shot.
It was learned that Elwell talked on the telephone from his apartment with an acquaintance between 2:30 and 3 o'clock. This indicated that he had gone straight home from the "midnight frolic" instead of visiting several other all night dancing places, as had been previously reported.

Joseph S. Elwell, aged father of the slain turfman, accompanied by his attorney visited the home of his son and took possession of the contents which may throw some light on the identity of the murderer.

"I am going to give the remainder of my life and every cent I own to running down the murderer of my son," said the elder Elwell.

Answers Filed

The answers and cross-petitions of the Coshocton National Bank and the West Lafayette Bank have been filed in common pleas court in the case of Jas. W. McDonald, assignee, against J. L. Dickerson and others. The Coshocton National Bank asks that its mortgage for $2,500, on which there is $1,000 unpaid, be made a first lien and the West Lafayette bank asks that its four judgments be satisfied out of the sale of the property. The amounts of the judgments are: $6,232; $780; $15, 575; and $3,554.11.

formed by Dr. E. C. Carr assisted by Dr. C. M. Nelson.

went a minor operation at the City

AVERAGE COST OF PRODUCING WHEAT IS $2.15

Government Survey Shows Half the Farmers Would Run Behind at That Price

The cost of producing wheat of the 1919 crop was as low as one dollar a bushel on just two farms out of 481 included in a cost of production study just completed by the United States department of agriculture. On 20 farms, it was $5.00 or over. The bulk of the farms produced wheat at a cost somewhat less than midway between these two extremes. The average cost per bushel for all farms was $2.15.
At such a price, half the farmers in question would have lost money on their wheat.

Fourteen representative districts in the wheat belt were visited by the field men of the office of farm management in making this investigation, a preliminary report of which has just been issued. Nine winter wheat areas were surveyed in Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri, and five spring wheat areas in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. For winter wheat 254 records were taken, for spring wheat 107.

Winter Wheat Ranged From $1.00 to $5.20

In the winter wheat areas costs ranged from $1 a bushel for two farms to $5.20 on one farm. The average cost was $1.87. If the price received had been $1.87 more than half of these winter wheat growers would have produced wheat at a loss.

In the spring wheat areas the average cost was much higher—$2.65—the range running from $1.10 for one farm to $5 or over for 17 farms. If the price received had equaled the average cost, between 50 and 55 per cent of these spring wheat growers would have failed to break even.

Yields averaged 14.9 bushels per acre for the winter wheat farms, and 8.4 bushels for the spring wheat farms and the cost per acre $27.80 for winter wheat, as against $22.40 for spring wheat.

"Necessary Price" Considerably
Above Average Cost

Department specialists, in cost of production studies, point out in this connection that, for the farms covered in this investigation, the so-called "necessary price"—that is, the price necessary to give the producer a fair degree of certainty of making a profit —would be found at a level considerably above that of the average cost of production. For example, to allow a profit on 80 per cent of the wheat produced on the farms covered by this study, the price would have to be about $2.60, as compared with an average cost of $2.15. At a price covering the average cost plus 10 per cent, 75 per cent of the crop would be covered, but 40 per cent of the growers would still fail to break even.

FLOYD B. SNEDEKER DIES IN HOSPITAL AT ALBANY SUNDAY

Word was received Monday morning by Mrs. J. F. Parks, 417 Walnut-st, of the death Sunday evening of Floyd B. Snedeker, formerly of Coshocton following an operation performed at an Albany, N. Y., hospital two weeks ago. The immediate cause of his death was not stated in the brief message.

Mr. Snedeker lived in Coshocton until 10 years ago when he joined the United States navy. He has been in the medical department of the navy since that time. For the past year he has been at Albany, where he went from a station in Colorado.

He was 34 years of age and leaves a wife and one son, James, aged three years. He was a nephew of Mrs.
Parks, with whom he made his home for several years.

Funeral arrangements were unknown here Monday, but it was considered improbable that the body would be brot here for burial.

GOTHAM'S WORSE THAN BABYLON, SAYS MINISTER

NEW YORK, June 21.—New York is worse than ancient Babylon, which was destroyed for its wickedness, according to the Rev.
Dr. Joan Roach Stratton, pastor of warning sermon on the Elwell case. He declared that New York the Calvary Baptist church, in a is suffering from "sexitis" and scored rich men who divorce their wives and turn their homes into harems. Dr. Stratton said that 75, 000 New Yorkers fill up the cabarets and theatres on Sunday night whereas only 1,800 attend the churches in the central district of New York City.

MENTIONED AS PERMANENT CHAIRMAN OF DEMOCRATS AT 'FRISCO CONVENTION

Bainbridge Colby.

Bainbridge Colby, ex-Bull Moose and President Wilson's secretary of state, is prominently mentioned as permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention. Early this year it was reported that Colby was Wilson's choice for president, and more recently he has been mentioned for the vice presidential nomination.

DEADLOCK AT SAN FRANCISCO IS CONSIDERED UNAVOIDABLE TODAY BY ANTI-ADMINISTRATION FORCES

High Water Didn't Cover Roscoe And Lewisville Roads

While fields along the Tuscarawas and Walhonding rivers were badly flooded Monday morning, following the heavy rains Sunday, danger of the Roscoe and Canal Lewisville roads being shut off to traffic was averted, both rivers having fallen about a foot Sunday night. Considerable damage was done to corn and other crops along the river valleys. The water was within a few feet of the Canal Lewisville road Monday morning.

The flood conditions reached a somewhat serious stage up in Tuscarawas-co. Saturday, New Philadelphia and Dover being practically cut off from the outside world so far as roads were concerned. By Saturday noon, however, the waters had receded two feet at New Philadelphia.
Dover was able to withstand the flood by the strong 12-foot levee erected along Bank-st. by the Reeves Manufacturing Company.

MISS NELLIE SYKES MADE TREASURER OF SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Miss Nellie Sykes, Roscoe, bookkeeper at the Central bank has been made treasurer of the City Federation of Women's Clubs' Scholarship Fund, which is being raised to aid worthy graduates of Coshocton high school in securing higher education.

Woman Thou Gavest Me," which will be shown at the Pastime theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, June 22 and 23, were placed on sale Monday morning thru the club members and members of the high school class of 1920.
The sale will close Saturday and reports will be made by each club member to the president of his club. The club presidents and graduates will report to Miss Sykes.

Grading Of Roads Causes Shutting Off Of Gas Supply

Coshocton's gas supply will be shut off again Tuesday afternoon from 2:00 to 3:00 o'clock. The cutting off of the gas is due to the fact that roads are being graded in the vicinity of Utica and Bladensburg and it is necessary to shut off the gas while the pieces are being cut out of the pipe line and the line lowered beneath the surface of the roads. Two or three pieces have already been cut out and it may be necessary to cut out three or four more, necessitating the shutting off of the gas each time.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—A deadlock over the choice of a presidential candidate threatens the Democratic leaders assembled today.

Controlled by men dominated by President Wilson, the resolutions committee is naturally expected to report a majority platform to the convention which will embody the salient planks of the so-called "Virginia platform," indicated at the white house.

Packed with federal office holders, who owe fealty to the Wilson administration, the convention will sustain the Wilsonized platform by upholding the majority rule which is all that is necessary to put it thru, is the belief of some leaders.

Democratic National Chairman Hormer S. Cummings and others already here, who are supporters of the president, are planning to invoke the majority rule, whenever they find it necessary to combat the opposition of an embittered minority.

The "steam roller" of the Democratic national committee, will not however, run over the convention without a stiff hot fight being waged against it by men like William Jennings Bryan and Senator "Jim" Reed, of Missouri, who are unable to see the virtues of the "Virginia platform."

But the real fight, if the anti-administration forces are "steam rolled" by the majority rule, will come when the time for the selection of a presidential candidate by the two-thirds rule arrives.

The anti-administration leaders predict with every show of confidence that the president's supporters will not command the two-thirds vote of the convention necessary to name the standard bearer of the Democratic party. They do not expect to command a two-thirds vote themselves, of course, but they are planning according to the scouts they now have on the ground, to force a deadlock over the choice of a candidate as a means for compelling sweeping changes in the "Virginia platform."

Husband Slapped By Indignant Wife

Frederick Wright and Gene Ferrell, both of Coshocton, Saturday were allowed an hour to leave Dover by Chief Ira Kessler, says the New Philadelphia Daily Times. They had both been questioned after complaint against her husband had been made by Mrs. Wright. When Chief Kessler admitted Mrs. Wright to her husband's cell Friday evening, instead of embracing him she administered several resounding slaps on his cheek, says the New Philadelphia paper. She charged that he had become separated from her while they were visiting in New Philadelphia.

It was reported in Coshocton Saturday that Eugene Ferrell and Gail Wright had joined the "Perkins Parisian Pearl" musical comedy troupe, which was to open in New Philadelphia Monday.

MURDER TRIAL OF R. RICHESON OPENS TODAY

Impanelling of Jury is Begun With Special Venire of 36 to Draw From

ACCUSED IS PRESENT

One Juror Had Been Seated at Noon Monday In Ohio
vs. Riley Richeson Case

Whether or not William Riley Richeson will go to the electric chair or serve a term of years in the Ohio penitentiary for murdering his nephew, Dave Richeson, and burning the shack in which they lived depends upon the outcome of the trial, which started Monday morning shortly after ten o'clock before Judge James Glenn in common pleas court.

Riley Richeson, pale and haggard after his long stay in the county jail, was brot into court by Deputy Sheriff Ernest Darr. Richeson, whose hair is gray and his brow furrowed, walked with a hickory cane into the courtroom and took his seat back of his attorneys, Shepler, Burkley and Durand. He seemed unexcited and calmly folded his arms and surveyed the crowd which almost filled the courtroom.

Bailiff W. M. Smith announced the opening of court and Judge Glenn called the case of Ohio versus William Riley Richeson, indictment for first degree murder. Attorney T. H. Wheeler, who is assisting Prosecutor Leech, said "The state is ready if the jurors are all here." Judge Glenn ordered Clerk J. H. Shaw to call the roll of jurors. The first eight responded to their names. The ninth juror, John E.
Hays, New Castle, failed to answer.
It was reported that he had arrived on the train but had gone to a barber shop. After a half hour's delay, he was located and appeared in the courtroom. All the others of the thirty-six members of the special venire reported, except Mr. Barrick, who is suffering from a stroke of paralysis and is unable to serve.

W. L. Craig, storekeeper at Keena, was the first juror called to the witness stand for preliminary examination, after he had been sworn by Clerk Shaw. He was questioned by Attorney Wheeler, who explained to him that this is an action in which the State of Ohio is plaintiff and Riley Richeson is defendant, the action being for murder in the first degree for causing the death of Dave Richeson.

In response to questions, Mr. Craig said he had read the papers some with reference to the case but hadn't talked with anyone about the facts and had not formed an opinion as to the merits of the case. Asked if he is in favor of capital punishment, he said he is not in favor of circumstantial evidence—that it must be a plain case.

SENATOR EDGE'S MISTAKE

NOW comes Senator Walter Edge, of New Jersey, and offers evidence of statesmanship and economic wisdom in the following passage from an address delivered recently before the Academy of Political Science at New York.

The people of the United States cannot consume the entire production of the land, nor would there be any profit for them if they could and merely interchanged dollars among themselves. Either world markets must be won and cultivated, or American production must be curtailed, with resultant poverty, distress and unrest.

From which we infer that world markets are still to be won, tho the American people cannot consume their entire product and that consequently there must be a surplus on hand. Nevertheless we must deal with a high and still mounting cost of living. Senator Edge is the first prominent conservative representative in public life to announce this surplus. It is strange that he does not show where it is, and stranger still that it does not occur to him that it might be used to break the high cost of living.

Foreign markets are excellent things to possess. They enable us to get goods in an easier manner than we can otherwise get them. But while we are waiting for the markets to be opened and while we have on hand a greater product than we can consume why are we not allowed to consume what we can? What is the need of the scarcity that causes the high cost of living? And what sense is there in urging workers to produce more? Perhaps Senator Edge, if properly urged, will explain.

In the same address Senator Edge said that there is "too much government in business and not enough business in government." The first half of the saying is probably correct. The government does interfere far too much in affairs that are not its proper concern.

But that there is "not enough business in government" is a statement with which issue may well be taken. Is not Senator Edge satisfied with the graft that protected businesses are getting thru the government? Is there not enough business in the guarantee of profits on watered railroad stock? Was there not enough business in the purchase of camp sites, in cost plus contracts and similar transactions?

After the concession to the Southern Pacific of enormous values in oil lands, after the passage of a leasing bill so framed as to give business interests a long-sought opportunity to grab public resources, how much more business does Senator Edge think there should be in government?

Still it must be said in justice to Senator Edge that what he meant was not business in government, but businesslike methods. He advocated a budget system. That is a step in the right direction for which credit should be given. More businesslike methods in government mean less business in government. This applies not only to expenditure of money but to the manner of raising revenue. The budget system applies businesslike methods to expenditures only. Such methods are badly needed there, but not half as much as in revenue raising methods.

Let us suppose that an individual, possessing an income ample for all his needs, should permit it to be appropriated by others who have done nothing to deserve it. And suppose further, that having squandered his income in this way he supported himself by forcibly depriving others of as much of their earnings as he concluded he required. That would clearly be an unbusinesslike and irrational policy. Yet it describes the principle on which the government acts in revenue matters.

The rental value of the land of the United States amounts to about six billions a year. It is the product of the presence, industry and enterprise of the entire people. It is ample to pay all necessary and proper governmental expenses. But instead of using it for public purposes the government allows it to be appropriated by a comparatively small number of private individuals for their own use.

Then having thus thrown away its own rightful income it supports itself by taking from individual producers a portion of their product. There is more crying need of reform in this matter than in the manner expenditures are made. Senator Edge is beginning at the wrong end.

Senator Edge's statement that the American people would derive no profit from the consumption of their own product, if they could consume it all, has an unconvincing sound. He says they would be merely interchanging dollars among themselves. That is not the way trade is carried on. Domestic, as well as foreign trade, does not consist of an interchange of dollars, but of an exchange of goods for money which is later exchanged again for different needs.

All trade is consequently an interchange of goods. If an American farmer can exchange the crops that he cannot consume for shoes, hats and clothes that the producers of these articles cannot use personally, why should that necessitate, as Senator Edge claims, curtailment of production with resultant poverty, distress and want? Unless all the wants of every man, woman and child have been filled why should production be curtailed?

And if enough has been produced to fill all these wants what need is there of foreign markets, what need of further production until a sufficient amount of the present supply has been consumed? And how can curtailment of production resulting from every one having enough be the cause of poverty, distress and want?

Senator Edge's absurd economics are the result of unquestioning acceptance as natural and right of an unnatural and unjust social system under which the workers are compelled to depend for permission to produce on those in control of opportunities. Consequently workers are allowed to retain only a portion of their product and cannot interchange products nor produce for each other as freely as they otherwise might.

Those who control the source of supply, the natural resources, are able to appropriate without return a large part of the product. Other privileged interests are in position to do the same. And the government takes another slice thru taxation of labor products. The purchasing power of labor is thus reduced to such an extent that with a surplus of commodities on hand laborers are unable to purchase.

It is for this reason that Senator Edge believes foreign markets to be the only alternative to curtailed production. He overlooks the possibility of more equitable distribution, or shrinks, perhaps, from the outcry that predatory interests would raise against him should he advocate such a change. Foreign markets are desirable, but not for the reasons cited by him.

The greatest obstacle to foreign markets is an iniquitous tariff system which Senator Edge champions. But the tariff system is itself a part of an unfair social system founded on the fundamental wrong, private monopolization of the land. It is this that must be removed if we would avoid poverty, distress and unrest with resultant evils.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 21.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and a genteel breakfast on a brace of ducks (Grantland Rice, the maker of puns, furnished) and by and by comes George Lederer, the play producer, to have me fashion some lines for a music piece, but I have no confidence soever in doing it and did tell him so.

Sat long under the wistaria arbor in the park with my dog, who is with fleas and fretful, and it is amazing to see how many were loafing the same as I. And a gay carriage passed, propelled by petrol, and a fine lady smiled, mistaking me for another, but I told my wife, poor wretch, of it as if the lady had been taken by me.

This day I donned my brave mohair suit, the day being mighty hot, and through the town, stopping at the Swede bootmaker's and the fellow in tears about his boy, who had quaffed some poisonous liquor in a pub. A naked-necked girl in the shortest skirt ever I saw and flagrant stockings came out of a side street and, Lord! how the men stared.

The town filled with strangers, many coming on the great ships, and all my friends gone to countrysides and I grew depressed for the want of money, albeit I would not go to the country. Bought for five shillings an old book by Anatole France, containing some noble essays.

Home and at my scribbling, but having no heart for it. Dined alone and read an old mystery story by Mrs. Rinehart, very amateurish, compared with her latter tales and I nodded over it. And so to bed.

When Irvin Cobb was out receiving Chautauqua salutes in his hinterland he had occasion to be seated beside an old fellow with chin whiskers on a jerky local train. Nothing pleased

A French artist visiting New York complains that the eyes of New York women have a strange tired look. He believes that is because all are trying to live beyond their income.

There is a safe just below the Harlem line where only pinocchio players eat. From 6 to 8 o'clock evenings more than fifty tables support dinners which cannot be equalled everywhere in the big town. As soon as coffees have been drunk and napkins crumpled up and laid aside cards begin to take the places of knives and forks and the greatest convention of pinocchio players in the world under one roof is holding its evening session. No effort is made to attract transients. Most of the patrons are retired business men and the proprietor has made a snug fortune.

There is gold in them movies, boys! A certain writer galloped into a producer's office the other day with the palpitating announcement that he had a coking title for a film. He had only the title. And had thought it up right in his own head while walking along the streets. He got a check for $500 advanced payment. The title was, "What Every Young Girl Should Know!" Now he is wondering just what they really should know.

CLOVERLEAF CHAMPION

Owned By
D. C. LAWRENCE & SONS, Coshocton Route 3
PORTER BROS., Fresno, Ohio

Highest Priced Sire Ever Sold at Auction in Ohio

It should be a matter of great interest to not only Shorthorn breeders of this county, but to every pure bred livestock breeder at large to know that D. C. LAWRENCE & SONS and PORTER BROS. have combined in the purchase of the great young bull CLOVERLEAF CHAMPION at the recent record sale of Shorthorns at the farm of W. C. Rosenberger of Tiffin, Ohio. The price of $5,100 paid is an indication of the quality that these firms have insisted upon as a standard.

Cloverleaf Champion is not only the most valuable livestock sire ever brought into the county but he is also the highest priced Shorthorn sire ever sold at public auction in the state of Ohio. No more valuable Shorthorn sire is being used in the state except the $20,000 Rodney which is at the head of the Carpenter and Ross herd at Mansfield. Cloverleaf Champion is of the same tribal family as Rodney and also Sanquar Dreadnaught, the two highest priced Shorthorn sires in America today.

This calf at the age of little more than a year weighs better than 1300 pounds. He will be fitted for show and may be seen at the head of the combination show herds of Lawrence and Porter this fall. Porter Bros. and D. C. Lawrence and Sons have numerous high class animals and expect to show at Columbus, Coshocton and Chicago.

It is the aim of the two breeding firms to establish herds of the very highest standard, and in realization of the fact that a sire is at least half of the herd they have combined to purchase this calf which has already given considerable advertising to the Shorthorn industry of Coshocton county.

Four sisters of Cloverleaf Champion sold in the Rosenberger sale at an aggregate of $15,000 and when a price on the mother was asked for, the reply was given that money could not buy her. The contending bidders on this calf were Canadian breeders who stopped at the bid of $5,000, and he was knocked down to Jay Lawrence and R. C. Porter at their bid of $100 more. A $5,000 insurance policy covers this valuable calf against death from any cause.

Will Johnson, secretary of the Shorthorn World and prominent cattle judge, and who is now enroute to Scotland in the interests of Shorthorn breeds says of this calf: "From the standpoint of individual merit, type, quality, pedigree and color, no better prospect for a sire has been sold in America this year than CLOVERLEAF CHAMPION. This calf, while handicapped by nearly four months of age at the last International Stock Show, stood twelfth in the class of forty as good calves as have been out in years. As a yearling this handicapped calf will be more easily overcome and he will doubtless stand well at the top in shows next year. For a sire he looks to be one of the greatest prospects in the country today. Added to his superb conformation, his wealth of mellow flesh and hide, his well proportioned head and his general evidence of character, he has a pedigree that assures prepotency. His sire is Rosenberger's great son of Imp. Villager, Imp. Royal Rosebud. She is by the Duthie bred Royal Stamp and through her dam is a half sister to the dam of that wonderful bull Maxwalton Revolution. Surely this calf's name will go down in history as one of the foremost progenitors of the breed."

and they worried some over the fact—also about the woman's seal-skin coat and smart little motor car. Then one evening three men shuffled from the portals of Mrs. Showalter's rather fashionable apartment. Standing on the corner, turning their pockets inside out, they registered considerable dejection.

Suddenly the trio were struck by a happy inspiration. They hurried post-haste to police headquarters. "We will now sing 'Bringing in the Sheaves,'" the pious Mrs. Showalter was announcing to the brothers, who were on their knees in curious little groups, when detectives rushed in thru a side door of the apartment, following the visit of the dejected trio to City Hall police station.

"Lady, these men claim you are gathering too many sheaves," interrupted one of the officers. The detectives found the worshippers gathered around crap tables, a few of them singing lustily as they inwardly prayed for the appearance

THE NEW NATURE REMEDY

From All Corners of the Earth Come Herbs For This New Scientific Compound Which is Astonishing In Its Remarkable Effects

Far from the lands of civilization the natives call on old Mother Nature, when they are sick, and who is more dependable than Nature itself in furnishing universal mankind with the necessary roots, barks and herbs when needed. From Egypt, throughout Europe, Russian Asia, China and Tibet and Southern India and from many parts of the United States come the roots used in the preparation of the two Leroba formulas.

For years we have searched for herbs. A few we have found almost in your own dooryard, once used by your grandmothers and great grandmothers, but now forgotten by you and classed as weeds. Others were handed down from generation to generation, a family secret. Again others must come from tropical climes, used by savage and half civilized peoples, who have never departed from nature's teachings.

Only the freshest herbs from the world's greatest importers are used in compounding these famous medicines. Leroba is being introduced in Coshocton for the first time and the wonderful results that our medicines have produced in many parts of the country fully justify the claims made for them.

Many persons claim to have been cured of St. Vitus, epilepsy, rheumatism, stomach trouble, kidney trouble as well as many milder diseases of the nervous system, by the use of the Leroba remedies.

Formula No. 1 for stomach, heart, nerves, liver, indigestion, bronchial coughs, female troubles, physical decline and debility. A tonic to build you up and create strength. Liquid $1.15 per bottle, 5 for $5.00.

Formula No. 2 for rheumatism, catarrh, kidneys, bladder, blood, weak back, eruptive and skin diseases and to purify the system after influenza. Liquid $1.15 per bottle, 5 for $5.00.

MARION FARMER GOT RELIEF FROM TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Would wake him up during the night and could not resist scratching, which caused great sores. Declares the root and herb remedy, Drecto, has driven it from his system.

"I hope some person who suffers from eczema will read what I have to say and will be led to try this great medicine, Drecto," are the words of Mr. L. A. Collins, one of Marion, O.'s best citizens, who owns a big farm four miles from this city. "My life has been a misery for years on account of this terrible disease," he continued. "Wry, it would wake me up at night itching and burning like fire. I could not resist scratching, as that seemed to relieve it, but this soon made big sores all over my body. I've tried ointments, creams, lotions, everything recommended to cure eczema, but without success."

"I decided to try Drecto, which was claimed to be a blood purifier and system cleanser, and Drecto is what has given me such wonderful relief. It has stopped the itching and burning, also dried up the sores, and today I am absolutely free from eczema. Drecto also cleaned my liver off; stopped the dizzy spells; quieted my nerves so that I could sleep well, and has created a splendid appetite. I certainly praise Drecto at every opportunity."

Drecto is made from herbal plants which clear the impurities from the blood; rouse a lazy liver to action; strengthen weak kidneys; aids the stomach to digest the food, and relieves constipation. All good druggists sell Drecto and it is being specially introduced here by

DOUG AND MARY GET PUBLICITY

LONDON, June 21. Douglas Fairbanks and his bride, Mary Pickford, arrived from New York today on their European honeymoon. They were greeted by a tremendous crowd of movie fans when they left their ship at Southampton.

As soon as the liner was docked at Southampton "Doug" appeared at the rail wearing his famous "million dollar" smile.

"Where's Mary?" shouted the crowd. Mary was dutifully brot forward and there was much cheering and waving of hats and handkerchiefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks were mobbed by reporters and photographers as they dashed down the gang planks, but both took it good naturedly and talked to the newspapermen as they were being jostled about.

WOMEN VOTERS TURN TO 'FRISCO FOR RECOGNITION

(By MRS. GEORGE BASS)
(Chairman Women's Bureau Democratic National Committee)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21. — The women of the United States are looking with high hopes toward San Francisco. Those hopes will not be betrayed as they were in Chicago.

In their guilelessness the women believed that the primary was intended to guide the decision of the national convention in its choice of a presidential candidate. They took part in the primaries of their various states, they supposed that the will of the people thus expressed would be final, but at the end of a baffling week in Chicago they learned that the Boies Penrose candidate selected in a senate conference room more than six months ago, with every detail by which his nomination was to be effected carefully worked out in the meantime, was the one finally chosen by the convention. All their efforts, the expense of the primaries and convention and the usual week of tension and suspense, were part of a play in which the whole country was the gallery. Their moral sense was profoundly shocked and their practical intelligence outraged. They were left with the conviction that the worst they had ever heard of the iniquitous manipulation of conventions was less than the actual truth.

Women are instinctively constructive and even the women upon whom the Republican party feels it has a legitimate claim have not been responsive to the policy of savage criticism of the Democratic administration by the Republican press and congress — criticism unaccompanied by any remedial suggestions. They looked forward eagerly to their national convention to present a platform and a leadership which they could accept with enthusiasm and which they could rely upon to achieve the permanent peace of the world, a constructive peace in which the United States should take its full share of responsibility.

What were they given? Instead of bread they received a stone. And so today, the new electorate of the country has turned expectantly toward the national convention of the other great party.

NEW WAR IN NEAR EAST THREATENED; MAY DELAY PEACE

LONDON, June 21. A new war in the Near East, which may hold up Turkish peace indefinitely, was threatened today on the eve of the inter-allied conference at Boulogne.

The question of allowing Greece to go to war against the Turkish nationalist, assisted by Anglo-French forces, was discussed at length by Premier Lloyd George, Premier Millerand, Marshal Foch and Premier Venizelos of Greece at 11:30 on Sunday and it was reported today that the allied premiers had decided to allow Greece to open a campaign against the Turks.

Already there are about one hundred thousand Greek troops under arms on Turkish soil ready to move forward against the army of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, according to Premier Venizelos. The Greeks have about 50,000 men in Thrace and approximately 90,000 soldiers at Smyrna.

The Daily Express editorially feared that Great Britain has been involved in a new war since the British are bound to aid the Greeks.

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Of Interest to Expectant Mothers

Goshen, Ind.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results after I had suffered for some time with female trouble. Some years ago I had two boys and took your Vegetable Compound before they came, also before my four year old boy was born, and afterwards, and think it fine for such cases. I tell others what it did for me and you may publish my testimonial!"
—Mrs. Geo. A. Foos, 711 S. 9th St., Goshen, Ind.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong and this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease. He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well. If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcline mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days. Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed. The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy. Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

Financial Letter

NEW YORK, June 21.—Great Britain's negotiations with the soviet representative, who has been sent to London, constitute the principal development of the week in the foreign field and seem to form the basis of considerable anxiety in European diplomatic circles. That the situation will affect the United States in any very direct way is far from certain. The contention of the Russians that they have no responsibility for the debts of the old regime in Russia, including everything prior to 1917, had been expected, but a door of compromise is left open by the suggestion that the Russians, if expected to settle the old debt will also expect to inherit the claims, rights and privileges guaranteed to the old Russian government. How this may work out is an interesting problem, as it might conceivably result in the assumption of some of the old Russian debt by the allied powers in consideration of the cancellations of soviet claims to Constantinople, territory adjoining Persia, and other dangerous possibilities of the same sort. Meantime the anxiety in France with respect to these questions, not only from the political but also from the financial standpoint, is very obvious, and is perhaps partly responsible for the increasing disposition in France to abandon all intent for the present moment of supporting the proposed allied conference at Spa, whose chief purpose was expected to be that of settling the amount and method of indemnity payments. From these various discussions the United States is necessarily excluded because of our refusal to define our international status and to act accordingly. There is no certainty as yet how our financial interests, as affected by these changes, will be protected, if at all.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Carpets and Rugs are the great breeding places for flu germs. Help the health officer to combat this deadly germ—by having the old dust thoroughly removed from rugs—not merely off the top surface but through and through. Our process will do this. If you could just see the amount of dust we will take from your rugs you could hardly believe your eyes, even after you had used your small vacuum cleaner on them. It will pay you to have it done RIGHT, both from the standpoint of health and the satisfaction of having your house cleaning done. Yours for real service, no serious surprise. Taking the candidates together they constitute a conservative outcome, and while not as positive and clear-cut as many persons in all groups had desired they nevertheless give promise of moderation and sanity in the event of success for the party at the polls. This has been recognized by the financial community, and the Chicago action has evidently had a reassuring effect notwithstanding that there has been some disposition to assign a certain amount of importance to third party rumors. The political situation will not be out of the way as a market factor until autumn, but what is done at San Francisco will at least tend strongly to clear the air by sharpening up the issues and affording a much clearer insight than is now possible with respect to campaign possibilities. During the weeks intervening between the present and the date of the San Francisco convention it may be expected political uncertainties will exert a somewhat depressing influence by preventing traders and investors from acting as freely as they otherwise would. This is unfortunate, even the apparently inseparable from "politics," as conducted in this country. It is a matter for congratulation, however, that up to date there seems to be so little disposition to adopt any extreme or unusual attitude in the campaign. The Democratic party may be led into the acceptance of radical or "red" ideas in its platform, but should it do so it will undoubtedly greatly lessen its prospects for support. As the year has advanced it has become more and more evident that the American public is fundamentally conservative—in fact, demonstrated by the inability of trouble making elements to score any definite success or to get public support for the movements they have set on foot thus far.

Frozen Credit and Investment

The money situation has continued practically unchanged during the week with call rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent or occasionally a higher quotation for a very short time. Time money has been relatively scant in supply and with rates practically stable, while a similar situation has existed in the commercial paper market. The advance of the reserve ratio at federal reserve banks by about 1/2 per cent was encouraging so far as it went, but was insufficient to give any great promise of decided improvement in reserve conditions. In Great Britain there has been a development of much stronger popular feeling against higher discount rates at the Bank of England, with at least a suggestion that lower rates may be forced. This is avowedly because of the effect of present rates in limiting business. The experience of Great Britain is practically parallel to that which we are passing thru in this country. In both, the "frozen credit" situation has tended to grow more aggravated, rather than less so, due to the fact that not a few enterprises which have shortened their activities on account of the high cost of money have apparently put themselves into a less favorable position from the standpoint of liquidation. Whether this may not tend to administer a check to the high money movement and at least to prevent it from going further is certainly worthy of consideration. There is a reasonable point at which to draw the line and many believe that it has been reached and that the demands of extremists for more strenuous application of credit restrictions and higher rates will be disregarded. There is a growing opinion, too, among bankers to the effect that the peak of the credit stringency has probably been reached and perhaps passed and that further aggravation of the conditions during the summer is not to be looked for. This is a state of things which tends to favor an improvement of the investment market, notwithstanding that prevailing high rates and other obstacles naturally tend to make the prospects somewhat unfavorable to the successful placing of securities at reasonable figures.

Purchase of Foreign Securities

The return of American securities to this country and their absorption in our market is still evidently proceeding, altho at a somewhat slackened pace due to the fact that the quantity held abroad and available for shipment has been so largely reduced. On the other hand, difficulties in the investment field here and attractive openings abroad have tended to make American capital flow steadily into Germany and Austria. Reliable foreign reports point to the fact that there is little if any check to the purchase of German marks, bonds, stocks and even lands, and some very high estimates are placed upon the amount of our capital which has thus been transferred. The latest interesting development is the action of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust Company in assuming an important position in the Credit Anstalt of Vienna with an investment of about 40,000,000 crowns and the right to appoint directors. This interest in foreign enterprise is in some respects a wholesome and desirable one in connection with the securing of our international position, altho it of course tends to limit the activity of our investment market here. What we are doing in this direction has produced its effect in a much more nearly stabilized condition of exchange, both sterling, francs, lire and marks showing during the past week decidedly less disposition to fluctuate violently, altho on one or two days there was weakness in lire which was only partly offset.

Trade and Financial Outlook Announcement on the part of the secretary of the treasury that a deficit of considerably over $4,000,000,000 is to be expected for the fiscal year ending June 30 is in line with forecasts that have heretofore been made and shows that little relief from taxation is likely to be secured so far as amount is concerned, the chief possibility of relief lying in a wiser method of imposition. The worst feature of this prospective deficit is found in the fact that it seems to be likely to perpetuate the practice of short term borrowing which has had so serious an influence upon the supply of credit and the rate of interest. Meantime the income and excess profits taxes have continued to show their productive-ness, the return for June 15 being well up to expectations. Receipts and disbursements for that date, altho heavy, were not of a nature to cause any particular disturbance in the money market, they being chiefly a bookkeeping transaction at the federal reserve bank. While there has been a slightly increased amount of unemployment at some districts and a continuance of indisposition to buy as freely and recklessly as heretofore with corresponding reduction of activity in various markets, such as furs and silks and, to some extent, woolen and cotton textiles, it still remains true that the general condition of business throughout the country and the earnings of industrial concerns have continued good. As for the rails there seems every reason to suppose that the northwestern dividend action was sporadic and by no means indicative of the existence of any general disposition of a like sort.

Market Prospects
The total volume of business in the market during the past few days has continued to be below normal with trading very quiet except in some of the industrial specialties. There was a slight increase in activity immediately after the close of the Chicago convention, but this proved to be only temporary. It is generally conceded that the Republican nominees are the strongest in the party and that they will be good vote drawers in all sections of the country. The market's advance last week, however, was on the supposition that a conservative ticket would be named, therefore had already been discounted, and in consequence selling of stocks during the early part of this week was not surprising. Under the circumstances it would be idle to expect that stocks will continue to advance materially. To be sure, the market appears to be a thoroughly liquidated affair, and with stocks now concentrated in strong hands there is no room for a retrograde movement of importance. It would be well enough, therefore, to pick up stocks on soft spots, but for the time being one should be prepared to sell on rallies brot about by short covering or any other cause. Railroads are presenting a firmer front. The fact that the Rock Island Company and Northern Pacific declared full semi-annual dividends has set at rest rumors that other companies would follow the example of the Northwestern Company, but even should there be further reductions it is a question whether they have not been discounted in the low level now prevailing for railroad shares. Even if loaning rates should be materially lowered it is very doubtful if there would be any particular haste to buy stocks by the outside public, as politics has now entered into the situation as an important factor. To be sure, after the San Francisco convention the strength of the Republican and Democratic parties, as indicated by their standard bearers, will be known and properly sized up, but the platforms of the two parties will be very dissimilar, and this fact of itself will add to the uncertainty. way house of night—I heard slow hoofs below my window, and leaning out, saw under moonshine two great cart horses wandering down the road toward them. They were enjoying a phase of their existence unknown to us. They conversed in little sounds and when one stopped to snort and sniff at the water of a duck pond by the way, the other also stopped, raised his head and looked steadfastly up into the starry sky. I saw the moonlight in his big eyes. Presently they put their noses together. Then one gave a slight start —perhaps at the opinions of the other —and side by side they sauntered away into the night-hidden land.

Philpotts.Dangerous Alarm Clock.
To prevent oversleeping, and thus risking the loss of their employment, the mail carriers of Morocco resort to a unique and perilous scheme. They tie a string to one foot, and, as they know how long a yard or two will burn, they regulate the length of the string by the time they have to sleep.
They light the string, which burns slowly, and, when the fire comes to their foot, they are painfully reminded that it is time to arise.LET US SELL YOUR

CHICAGO'S BLACK

two other sailors from Great Lakes, leaped from the machine and started to his rescue. He was shot thru the side, and ran into a nearby cigar store.
Several of the negro fanatics toldowed him and fired a volley into the store. The bullets struck both Rose and Hoyt, who were in charge of the store. When the two sailor companions of Rose reached his side a moment later, after bucking their way thru the mob of gloowering, threatening blacks, both men were dead.While the shooting was going on, a second American flag was thrown on the bonfire by the frenzied negroes.
It was rescued by Policemen Buckley and Vaughn, who, rushing to the scene when the shooting started, drew their revolvers and began firing into the negro mob. The latter dispersed under the hail of bullets.Today squads of detectives were hunting thru the "black belt" for Redding and Ferno, the "Abyssinian" princes as the leaders of the riots, and also "Dr." R. D. Jones, a white man of Washington, D. C., who is said to have been associated with the negroes in the demonstration. He is known to the police as a radical agitator among Chicago's blacks.The police also are investigating a report that the "back to Abyssinia" movement has the backing of the I.
W. W."Hyphenated Americans." It is claimed that the term "hyphenated Americans" dates prior to the year 1876, when John Boyle O'Reilly applied it to a remnant of the old-time toryism which objected to the nationwide celebration which took place that year.Announcement

SYRACUSE AND NAVY
WIN ROWING HONORSNEW YORK, June 21.—Intercollegate rowing honors for the season just closing are as mythical as the football championship of last fall.As a result of her victory in the intercollegiate classic on Lake Cayuga Syracuse appears to have collected the claims of the Navy to the college rowing title.By defeating Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia in decisive fashion, the oarsmen of the Ten Eyck Navy, who scored a victory over the Middies earlier in the season and later lost to the Annapolis varsity eight in the Henley Cup race at Philadelphia, have jumbled the title claims.The only remaining rowing classic regatta at New London next Friday, but this race will have no bearing on the college title, as both Yale and Harvard have tasted defeats that eliminate them.The Crimson crews lost to the Navy in April, when the Middies made a clean sweep on the Zevron. Yale and Princeton went down to defeat together before the red oars of Cornell at Lake Carnegie in May and now Coach Courtney's choice varsity eight, especially prepped for the intercollegiate, has bowed to the Orange.As a result of the season's rowing classics Syracuse and the Navy are deducted for first honors and apparently the only equitable thing to do is to bracket them together as the premier crews of the year.Up-to-date Version.

TODAY'S DAY WOMEN

TALK MOST, 'TIS SAID

Monday was theoretically the longest day in the year.

It marked the summer solstice in the northern hemisphere.

Tuesday, according to popular conception, the sun starts on its journey toward the southern horizon, having reached its highest point in the heavens Monday.

As a matter of fact, astronomers say the length of the day does not change from June 16 to June 23, remaining constant at 15 hours and 10 minutes in the latitude of New Haven, Connecticut.

Each night will be longer and each day shorter theoretically than the one preceding it until December 21, the day of the winter solstice.

MASTON AGAIN IS PRESIDENT OF BETHEL BD.

The Roscoe Bethel camp meeting closed Sunday evening with a large and most gratifying attendance. The afternoon and evening audiences were both large in spite of the weather conditions.

The meetings started Thursday June 10 and were largely attended the entire 10 days. Rev. John Paul, Wilmore, Ky., gave the farewell sermon at the camp grounds in the evening. Rev. Joseph Owens, Boaz, Ala., preached his farewell sermon in the afternoon.

Rev. John Paul left for his home Monday morning. Rev. Joseph Owens left for Illinois, where he will preach sermons in the meetings there and Rev. C. R. Chilton left Monday for his home in Warren, Pa.

A meeting was held Saturday evening by the Bethel Association board and the officers for the camp meeting next year were named. Arrangements for next year and the selection of the evangelists who will take part in the camp meetings next year, will be taken up at the meeting of the Bethel board at the home of the president of the board, L. D. Maston, Roscoe, some time this week.

It was decided by the board that Rev. John Paul and the singers, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rineberger, will be here for the next camp meeting held at the Roscoe school grounds, next year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rineberger, the singers at the camp meetings, left for Columbus Monday where they will take part in the singing at the Nazarene church there.

The Bethel camp meeting officers elected at the board meeting for the coming year Saturday evening were: L. D. Maston, president; Rev. A. H. Perry, of Trinway, vice president; Rev. W. H. Middleton, of Keene, secretary, and C. W. Neptune, treasurer.

FORCED TO QUIT AFTER 30 YEARS

Well Known Carpenter Became Too Shaky to Drive a Nail But Feels Fine Now

"If I had only taken Tanlac sooner, I would not have been forced to give up my trade," said W. D. Faurete, R. F. D. 3, South Bnd, Ind., in an interview recently.

"I have been a carpenter for thirty years," explained Mr. Faurete, "and have worked at my trade all the time until recently, when I got to feeling so played out I decided to take up farming and try to get my health back. Mr. strength had been gradually leaving me for several years and at the time I moved to the farm my nerves had gotten so shaky that I actually couldn't hold a nail still long enough to drive it. My kidneys had been out of order for a long time and I could hardly rest at night, but would wake up at all hours and just roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other. If I kept in one position any length of time at night I always got up in the morning with my back aching fearfully, my hips as stiff as a board and I could hardly get about. My liver was sluggish all the time, and on top of all these troubles I had an attack of the 'flu' that very nearly finished me up."

"Now this is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac—completely run-down and worn out—and I want the public to know how completely this medicine has brought me out. My nerves are now as steady as a clock, my kidneys no longer bother me and I can sleep soundly all night in any position and I get up in the mornings without a pain in my back or a sign of stiffness in my hips. My liver is in good condition and Tanlac has helped me in every way. Even the muscles of my arms, which had gotten soft and flabby, and now hard and firm, and I am feeling just fine all the time. Tanlac has built me up until I believe I could do as much carpenter work as I ever did. In fact, I am now in about as good health as I ever was and all the credit belongs to Tanlac."

MURDER TRIAL

Judge Glenn asked him if he would return a verdict of guilty if the circumstances were such as to exclude all other possibility. "That would be a plain case," said Craig. In answer to further questions by Attorney Wheeler, the juror said he did not have scruples against capital punishment in plain cases but he did have scruples against capital punishment where the conviction was based upon circumstantial evidence. The state passed for cause and Attorney C. M. Burklew questioned Craig. "Have you as a taxpayer any feeling against the accused on account of the expense of the trial?" "No," Craig replied.
